MONEY SCARCITY BITTER COMPLAINT.

Slate Makers Have Been Tight With the Wherewithal for Henchmen.

CAN'T WORK WITHOUT IT.

The bright weather promises to bring out a good vote at the Spring Primary today in spite of the fact that complaint of the scarcity of money is general and bitter. The Slate is very much in evidence in the shape of a small card the color of a bad liver, the Anti-Slate people say, which is being scattered about like the leaves of autumn. In addition to the county ticket it contains the names of the following: Congress, A. F. Cooper; Assembly, Patrick Reagan, D. D. Johnson, U. F. Higinbothain; State Delegates, Dr. H. F. Atkinson, Gomer Lewis, George M. Rathmell.

The Slatemakers are putting on a bold front, quite in keeping with their boldness in proclaiming their Slate. They confidently claim, through their organ, the Uniontown Herald, a sweeping victory. The opposition, however, is uncompromising, earnest and equally confident. It is evident that it embraces the larger portion of the intelligent and influential Republican voters. Many of them are silent, but they are none the less aroused and determined to resent to the uttermost the attempt to inaugurate open bossism in this county. Indications point to some disastrous slate-smashing.

The liquor men, who have been warned to keep out of local politics, are between the devil and the deep sea in this campaign, because of some polite hints that they are expected to get busy for the Slate. They will probably not take an active interest in the county ticket, though they will exercise their privilege in the matter of the legislative ticket to the utmost. Their contribution to the campaign is not in evidence and it is possible that they are doing their own missionary work.

In Connellsville and New Haven primary politics began early this morning, workers being upon the streets as early as 8 o'clock, though the polling places do not open until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Slate supporters began working early but the low condition of their treasury made it up-hill work. They have been used to working along the overflowing "bar'l" route. They were consequently decidedly subdued and uneasy this morning. The meeting here on Thursday evening gave them a better insight into the manner in which the votes were to be cast today than they previously had and a good bit of wise judgment was displayed in saving their necks by bringing the Slatemakers' Syndicate to Connellsville to let them see for themselves just how matters stood. If the Slatemakers had some of the money that flowed so freely last fall, they believe they would be able to make good, but the Connellsville backers of the Slate feel extremely helpless with an unpleasant proposition to support and measly money to land it.

The polls will remain open until 8 o'clock this evening. It is expected that, owing to the large number of candidates on both the Democratic and Republican tickets, it will be well on towards Sunday morning before it is possible to determine the result.

Quite a great deal of interest has been aroused among the Democrats over the nomination of delegates to the State Convention. A. D. Soisson is a candidate, and there are five for the place, with four to elect. Griffin, Kellar, McDonald and Soisson are the chosen four, with Searight of Uniontown as the black sheep. The principal opposition to him is from the fact that he opposed Ed. Frock for Sheriff, and the Democrats are polishing their knives for him. McClelland and Stickel are being boosted for County Commissioners. Little interest is being taken in the balance of the ticket.

"I deem a public explanation of my withdrawal as a candidate for the Legislature as advisable. When I became a candidate I was given to understand that the field would be open, and would be free from the influence of the Republican leaders. Conditions changed in the midst of the campaign, and I found that not a single leader of the organization could support me; that the Local Option people had selected a slate to oppose me, and that other interests in this county who have tremendous influence, and property interests could not support me.

"That left me alone, the only candidate of the nine in the field who was not supported by some faction or the other, by some leader or the other, and since I was without organization support it would require a bank account of a wealthy man to have completed the campaign in a manner satisfactory to me. Since Johnson, Higinbothom and Reagan are the oldest candidates in the race, who have lived longest in the county, and have been tireless workers for the party, there was nothing left for me to do but to withdraw in their favor. Throughout the district I was received warmly. I thank my friends for their many expressions of support, and I am indebted to every one of them."

IN BURNING HOUSE.

Greene County Woman Narrowly Escapes Cremation in Her Home.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 11.—(Special.)—In a fire which destroyed her residence in Rich Hill township, Greene county, Mrs. William Elliott, who was alone and ill, almost lost her life.

Mrs. Elliott discovered the fire before it had gained much headway and called frantically for assistance. Finding her cries were useless she managed to crawl out of bed and drag herself out of the house. She is in a critical condition from exhaustion. The house was built almost 100 years ago. The property loss is $2,000, partially insured.

ELKINS BILL.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Chairman Stephen B. Elkins today brought to the attention of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce a letter from Attorney General Bonaparte, submitting an amendment to the resolution to suspend until January 1, 1910 the penalties attached to the commodity clause of the railroad rate law. The amendment is intended to protect the right of the railroads and the government to test the constitutionality of the clause in advance of its operation. The suggestion of the Attorney General follows:

In view of the fact that some difference of opinion seems to exist as to whether any appropriate civil remedy exists to enforce the provisions of the "commodities clause" of the Hepburn act, as the law now stands, I venture to suggest that the resolution be amended by adding the following words:

"Provided, that nothing in this resolution shall be construed to prevent the bringing of any civil suit or proceeding for the enforcement of said provision, or the prevention of violations thereof; and that the Attorney General is hereby authorized to institute, or cause to be instituted, in the name of the United States, and against any persons or corporations failing to comply with said provision, such civil suit, whether by application for mandamus, bill in equity for injunction, or other effective remedy in the premises in any circuit court of the United States having jurisdiction in the premises to secure the enforcement and observance of said provision; and the respective parties to any such suit herein authorized to be commenced shall enjoy the right of appeal, as in suits of like character when instituted by the request of the Interstate Commerce Commission to compel the observance of the interstate Commerce law."

RAIN STORM

UNIONTOWN April 11.—The lower section of Fayette county was swept by a severe rain storm last night, causing the little streams to overflow their banks and do considerable damage. A small stream flowing through the James R. Barnes property at Hopwood overflowed and caused about $2,000 damage on the property. The Baltimore & Ohio tracks were also heavily washed at this point. Along the Monongahela river at Gray's Landing the Bell Telephone Company had a number of telephone poles washed out, and at Smocks station the Tri-State poles were washed out.

Several mines narowly escaped being flooded by prompt work in the Lower Connellsville coke region.

The streams began rising late in the dau but a very heavy rain occurred at midnight, which did the damage.

UNDERMINED BRIDGE AND BIG LANDSLIDE DELAY PASSENGER TRAINS ON B. & O.

Undermining of the bridge near Fayette street, Uniontown, which crosses Redstone creek, delayed train No. 1, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, several hours, and another slide at Marble Hill on the Connellsville division, held up the Duquesne Limited and caused it to arrive here two hours late.

The weakening of the bridge at Uniontown was not discovered until early this morning, and the officials did not consider it safe to operate trains over the structure, although no portion of it had been washed away. Redstone creek last night overflowed its banks and tore roughly down through its narrow channel. The bridge has always been regarded as a little weak in case of a heavy flood and has been carefully guarded. An examination this morning showed that it had been considerably weakened by the flow of water and the officials deemed it inadvisable to run trains over it. Train No. 1 was switched to the Pennsylvania tracks at Fairchance and run into Uniontown over that road. It arrived in Connellsville more than an hour late.

The Duquesne Limited lost two hours' time by the Marble Hill slide. It had to be switched to the eastbound track at Bidwell. The slide covered the entire westbound track and a large force of men was sent to the place this morning to remove the dirt and stones. Marble Hill is the most famous place along the Connellsville division for slides and it requires constant guarding to prevent trains from crashing into them. The slide was discovered a few minutes after it came down this morning, so that there was no danger to passengers aboard the train.

With the Fairmont & Connellsville division tied up this morning railroading was a difficult feat and the company officials were busy endeavoring to straighten out affairs.

BASE BALL TEAM A GO

FORFEIT POSTED YESTERDAY

By Connellsville Representatives and Two Thousand Dollars Subscribed to Start a Fund to Keep the Club Alive.

Wade H. Marietta left this morning for Pittsburg, where he will get in touch with Milton Montgomery and other base ball people in the Smoky City in the hope of getting a string to some of the brilliant lights of the diamond whom some of the great clubs are willing to farm out or sell to Connellsville for the formation of a team that will take the pennant this year in the Pennsylvania & West Virginia League, recently organized.

At the meeting held in the Yough House here yesterday afternoon forfeits of $500 each were posted by the clubs composing the league, and all other necessary arrangements made for the opening of the season.

For some time the Connellsville team had been the drawback, because the money had not been subscribed and posted for the guarantee fund which each club is obliged by the rules of the league to put up. But during the past week J. D. Porter and others were active in getting signers to the fund, and when the meeting opened Connellsville representatives were ready to put up the sum of $500 for the forfeit and $100 as a guarantee to obey the regulations of the league. About $1,500 in addition to this sum has been raised here to carry on the work of the organization and more will be forthcoming before the opening date of the season.

The meeting at the Yough House was attended by representatives of the clubs, and President Gronninger also was on hand. The following were elected officers of the Connellsville club for the season: H. F. Barclay, President; J. H. Doyle, Vice President; Harry E. Schenck, Secretary and Treasurer, and Wade Marietta, Business Manager. The Board of Directors are H. F. Barclay, J. H. Doyle, Harry E. Schenck, Wade Marietta, W. D. McGinnis, C. C. Mitchell, J. D. Porter, A. D. Soisson, H. C. Hoffman, Clair Stillwagon, A. A. Straub and T. B. Echard.

Teams in the other towns in the league have a start on Connellsville in the matter of securing players, but there are many fine men yet to be picked up in adjoining towns, some of them released already from the big league nines which are overcrowded and which are now thinning down their ranks to the real standing strength for the season.

The meeting yesterday was the last to be held before the opening of the season, in which all the magnates were scheduled to be present. The Connellsville Board of Directors and officers will of course hold many local meetings from now on to bring the Connellsville stars up to the winning notch. At the meeting at the Yough House 25 applications for the position of umpire were received and all were accompanied by good references.

The Uniontown management is signing players who are bound to make good in the league. Word was received from Roberts of last year's P. O. M. team that he is in the best of condition and that he will report there about Tuesday, April 21. The other players who have been signed will report there between April 18 and 25. The local men who were out this week have made a good showing and at least two will make the team. Several college teams, including Washington & Jefferson on April 25, are booked for exhibition games, and the fans will have a chance to size up a Pennsylvania & West Virginia team before May 1.

WATER CURE

Prescribed for Man With Delerium Tremens and Proves Quickly Effective.

Chief of Police Rottler has won great distinction in being able to cure a case of delerium tremens in short order. Johnny McGee of Hazelton had a case of "snakes" yesterday and the officer tried the water cure upon him. He prescribed for McGee a pint of water every ten minutes and placed a man in charge of him to see that McGee took his medicine. Upon returning to the police station he inquired after his patient and the nurse told him that he had better let up on the medicine for he was afraid that McGee would "bust," besides he was entirely cured. McGee was in good shape to continue his journey to Hazelton and was allowed to go.

A colored man, John Henry, was arrested last night for trespassing on the Baltimore & Ohio. He was being accompanied by Carl Taylor, an 18 year old lad from Cleveland, where both of them worked in a woolen mill, back to Philadelphia, where both worked for a horse fancier. John Henry gave a good account of himself and he and his friend were allowed to depart.

John B. McMullen, 64 years old, stopped over in Connellsville while on his way from the Soldier's Home at Dayton, O., to Juminonville, and meeting some of his old friends here went the limit in drinking booze. He had to be carted to the police station in Constable Wilson's buggy. He was released.

JAPAN MISSIONARIES.

Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Cunningham to Return to Connellsville on a Visit.

Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Cunningham and three children expect to arrive here about May 22 from Tokyo, Japan, on an extended visit to the home of Mrs. Cunningham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boyd of New Haven. They will sail from Tokyo May 2 on the steamer Mounteagle and expect to arrive in Pittsburg about May 21.

Rev. Cunningham was born and reared near Dawson. He married Miss Emily Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Boyd of New Haven. Shortly after his marriage he was stricken with paralysis. After partially recovering from his illness, with their little daughter they left for Tokyo, Japan, where they have been engaged in missionary work for about eight years. Rev. Cunningham established the "Tokyo Christian," which is received here by many of his friends.

He also received much help from Connellsville people in carrying on his work of missions. Rev. Cunningham and his wife have a comfortable little home in Tokyo and are very popular among the Japanese residents. Mrs. Cunningham is a prominent worker in the Yotsuya Woman's Society. During their visit here Miss Miller, a missionary to Japan, will have full charge of the work of the absentees.

A GREAT CONVENTION

A STATE MINING INSTITUTE.

Fayette Countians Hold Lands and Shares in Coal Companies of That State and Will Be Interested in Gathering in Clarksburg.

A big meeting of the coal mining men of West Virginia will be held at Clarksburg on Monday and Tuesday, June 29 and 30, organizing a State Mining Institute, to be composed of mining engineers, coal operators, mine inspectors, miners and others interested in mining.

The purpose of the organization is to advance the coal mining industry within the State; to encourage the promotion of education in practical and scientific mining; and for the more particular purpose of bringing the coal mining men of the State into closer relation with one another and promoting a friendly feeling through social intercourse and the discussion of mutual interests.

The first day of the big meeting will be devoted to the organization of the institute and on Tuesday, June 30, papers on mines and mining will be read and discussed. An effort will be made to present a program suggestive of good, practical discussion such as will lead to the betterment of conditions in general surrounding the coal mining industry of the State.

Letters will shortly be sent out to all parts of the State calling upon the mining men to attend this big meeting. The letters will be signed by J. B. Hanford of Morgantown, Chairman and John S. Cummings of Tunnelton, Secretary. Mr. Hanford is Vice President of the Coal Mining Institute of America and General Superintendent of the Elkins Coal & Coke Company.

As many Connellsville and Fayette county people are heavy holders of coal lands and stock in various coal companies in West Virginia, it is probable that the convention will be attended by a delegation of Fayette countians.

The alleged attack on the little girl was made at the Opp home, which is on the hill back of the mining plant, when the parents were absent, and it is reported that the child is in a serious condition as the result of the fiendish assault.

FEARS DYNAMITE

Will Explode From Match and Hurling It aside Brings Explosion.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 11.—Central Washington received a shock like that of an earthquake which broke the windows in many houses of that section at 7.30 o'clock last night, when the house of Pietro Emillio was blown to pieces by an explosion of dynamite. Emillio had a lot of the explosive wrapped in paper, and while lighting his pipe let the match fall on the package. The paper caught fire and Emillio, after making several efforts to stamp out the fire, picked up an armful of dynamite and threw it in a nearby creek.

The man was thrown some distance by the explosion but was not injured. His house was completely demolished. He was arrested and locked up on a charge of having explosives within the city limits. Had Emillio allowed the dynamite to burn it would not have exploded.

MAN HUNT

Special to The Courier.

ZOLLARSVILLE, April 10.—Much excitement was caused here yesterday afternoon when it was discovered that the bakeshop belonging to Geo. L. Stout had been robbed. Stout's store is in Faireld, a suburb of this place, and it was during the afternoon that three foreigners and one American were in the store. Stout discovered that he had been robbed, and, calling to James Davis, a neighbor, they started in pursuit of the robbers who had gone a mile down the road.

The robbers were headed for Fredericktown, and Mr. Stout, thinking that the men were going to that place, took a short cut through the woods. The men, seeing them turn into the woods, turned off in another direction. One of the pursuers took deliberate aim at the fleeing men and fired. It is thought that the shot took effect. The men escaped.

SLEPT IN CAR.

Thomas Mackey Makes Bed in Merchandise and is Now Charged With Attempt to Rob.

Thomas Mackey of the South Side, Pittsburg, broke into a merchandise car some time last evening, and, undressing, he made a bed and went to sleep. He says he supposed he got into the car at Pittsburg, because he had been drinking, and, finding it a pretty good place to take a nap, just went to sleep.

His first recollection was being rudely awakened this morning by Officer Thomas Phalin, who was telling him to get his clothes on. He hustled into them and accompanied the officer to the police station. He is charged with breaking and entering a car with intent to rob. Captain W. A. Metzler is investigating the case today and it may be that he will prosecute Mackey, in case any goods are missing from the car, as the seal upon it was broken.

SNYDERTOWN ROW BOBS UP AGAIN.

Bruce Donaldson Threatened to Burn the Home of Mrs. Hall

WHILE INMATES WERE IN BED.

People Testify to Abhorrent Actions of Trouble Maker and Magistrate Clark Sends the Prisoner to Jail for Trial Before the Court.

Bruce Donaldson is again in jail a prisoner, and the little community at Snydertown is resting easy. He was given a hearing this morning before Magistrate W. P. Clark on a charge of surety of the peace and threatening to burn the home of Mrs. Lydia Hall, who was the prosecutor.

A large number of witnesses were brought into the magistrate's court this morning to give testimony and all of them stated that Donaldson was a nuisance and that they were afraid of him.

The prosecution of Donaldson has been held off for several weeks by Magistrate Clark, but the residents of Snydertown have been so persistent and determined to have the man locked up the magistrate consented to hear the case. He had a previous experience with him when he was prosecuted on a serious charge and sent to jail, and did not care to get mixed up in another case, as the relationship and feelings of the community are much cut up, and the testimony given before him at the last hearing was conflicting and of an ugly nature.

However, at this hearing, Donaldson seemed to have lost all his friends and they testified to his actions about the community. Some of the things that it is alleged that Donaldson did are revolting, but these were not adduced at the trial.

Mattie Collins, William Shrock, Katie Collins and Mrs. Neri Collins all testified that they heard Donaldson threaten to burn the home of Mrs. Hall, and to kill her, and kill anyone in the community who did anything against him. He intended to burn the Hall house "some night when they were in bed." Mrs. Collins stated that she had no grudge against Donaldson and that she was really no close friend of Mrs. Hall's, but that Donaldson had been acting so scandalousy that something must be done.

Magistrate Clark reviewed the case and called Donaldson's attention to his former trial. He stated that the whole community was up in arms against the actions of the defendant and that something would have to be done. He decided to commit him to jail, and Constable Crossland immediately afterward took him to Uniontown.

Donaldson was arrested near Mill Run several years ago and penned in a corncrib by the residents of that place. He acted like a wild man at the time and the mountaineers arrested him and placed him in a corncrib and stood guard over him until the officers arrived.

BANK BUILDINGS

The Bufano bank building, which has been in course of construction for several months, is now almost ready for occupancy. Mr. Bufano has already moved his bank from the old Second National Bank property to his new location and the work of installing his new fixtures is being pushed rapidly ahead. The upper parts of the building are to be used for flat purposes and will not be ready for occupancy for some time.

The work of demoiishing the old buildings, which are to make room for the new Second National Bank structure of eight stories on the corner of Main and Pittsburg streets, is rapidly progressing. The old buildings are landmarks, but there has as yet not been found in them any old relics of former days worthy of note.

HUGHES TO BE INDORSED

New York Republican State Convention in Session

New York, April 11—The political atmosphere on this, the eve of the Republican state convention has been heavy with rumors of dissension, and for a time there were reports that a fight would occur on the convention floor against the indorsement of Governor Hughes for the presidential nomination.

Reports that the prearranged plan to indorse Governor Hughes would be upset grew out of opposition in certain quarters to those slated to be delegates-at large A meeting of the executive committee of the Hughes league at which resolutions were adopted leaving the selection of delegates-at large to the state convention, and the arrival of Congressman J Sloat Fassett of Chemung from Washington with resolutions indorsing Governor Hughes for president and commending the national and state administrations, relieved the situation of its uncertainty After a meeting of the Republican state committee to prepare the convention s temporary roll the best opinion obtainable from the political leaders was that the convention would be harmonious, and the program of indorsing Governor Hughes and naming General Stewart L Woodford and former Mayor Seth Low of this city Frederick R. Hazzard of Syracuse and Edward H Butler of Buffalo, as delegates at large with alternates to the Republican national convention at Chicago, was likely to be carried out without opposition from any of the 1 009 delegates

Clothes of Quality at Prices That Please.

The sort of Suit you should wear Sir, is here waiting for you. It's the sort of suit you need not worry about.

Strange how the little feeling of uncertainty that comes from a doubt as to the appearance of his clothes can interfere with even a sensible Man's work and destroy his peace of mind.

The Spring Suit Styles are handsome but not radical in cut or fabric.

Coats of medium length, moderately form fitting. Liberal collars and lapels, closing with two or three buttons. Vests opening somewhat lower. Trousers easy but not so full of hips. The fabrics are choice colorings in Cheviots, Tweeds Cassimeres, Serges etc. In short the New Spring Suits have a tone of distinction.

Don't Use a Scarecrow

To Drive Away the Mail Order Wolf

You can drive him out quickly if you use the mail order houses' own weapon—advertising. Mail order concerns are spending thousands of dollars every week in order to get trade from the home merchants. Do you think for a minute they would keep it up if they didn't get the business? Don't take it for granted that every one within a radius of 25 miles knows what you have to sell, and what your prices are. Nine times out of ten your prices are lower, but the customer is influenced by the up-to-date advertising of the mail order house. Every article you advertise should be described and priced. You must tell your story in an interesting way, and when you want to reach the buyers of this community use the columns of this paper.

HOPE FOR THE SQUARE DEAL.

In spite of the open and flagrant attempt of a syndicate of slatemakers to dictate the nominations to be made at this afternoon's Republican primary, it looks at this writing as if the other writing was writ large and flaming on the walls about the Republican forum.

The party is stirred to its depths and a deep but silent resentment will probably find surprising expression at the polls. All the surface indications support this judgment. The results are likely to be disastrous to some of the excellent men who, either through accident or design, are on the much-condemned slate.

The primary is remarkable in one respect. The political interests are complex and conflicting, and in some sense it is a free-for-all in spite of the attempt to make it a mere ratification meeting.

It promises to be something of a hurly-burly, with the single saving grace that boodle and booze, bribery and corruption, are likely to play a smaller part than usual owing to a complaint which is general all over the country, namely, a lack of funds.

Out of the strenuous struggle and the queer mix-up, however, we hope to see the Square Deal emerge unscathed and triumphant, and peace with honor settle over a faction-torn and much distracted party.

THE POLE AND WIRE PROBLEM.

The proposition to put the wires under ground, especially in the more crowded sections of the town, is neither a new or a notional one. It has been discussed before and there are grave reasons in support of it.

The multiplicity of wires in the business section is a constant and serious menace to life and property. Connellsville has had a few sad experiences, but not enough perhaps to duly impress the danger upon her citizens.

In times of storm the heavily-charged electric power wires hang like the sword of Damocles above the heads of the passers-by, and deaths from dislodged and broken live wires are of common occurrence.

The masses of telephone, telegraph and light wires have proven to be a serious interference with the firemen when fighting fires, and have been the direct cause of much loss of property.

Not only this, but the poles and wires are unsightly. Their removal is demanded by every consideration of public policy. Just how this is to be accomplished is a problem to which the Chamber of Commerce has addressed itself earnestly.

In view of the difficulties experienced in other towns and cities with the establishment of conduit systems as well as the desirability of some such improvement here, the result of the Chamber's inquiries will be awaited with interest.

THE CONSERVATION OF OUR NATURAL RESOURCES.

The question which President Roosevelt and his advisors are now pressing upon the Congress, which Chambers of Commerce all over the country are discussing and which is beginning to come home to the people with overwhelming force, namely, the conservation of our natural resources, was raised in these columns years ago, and we have ever since been earnest and persistent in urging its importance.

Every year has made it plainer that the unwelcome conditions we have faithfully portrayed must inevitably overtake us; in fact, we are already suffering some of the consequences of our reckless destruction of the timber supply of the country, chief among which is the diminution and deterioration of our domestic water supplies.

It is too late to remedy much of the mischief, but it is not too late to face about and adopt a saner public policy, and this policy must not only embody reforestation on a national scale, but likewise the preservation of our sources of domestic water supply from pollution.

The latter reform has long met with its greatest resistance from municipalities and manufacturing and mining interests, because of the large cost of caring for their drainage by other methods than that of dumping it into the streams; but the dangers of this custom have become so threatening that the public safety demands that dollars shall no longer be weighed against life.

NOT WANTON ATTACK BUT SELF-DEFENSE.

Some of our Fayette county contemporaries have complained from time to time that we have tried to "injure" their "business." The Courier does not desire to injure anybody's business, but it will at all times use its best endeavors to protect its own from the indirect attacks of others.

The circulation of The Courier is very much greater than that of any other Fayette county daily, and our contemporaries know this because we have been printing the exact figures for everybody's information. In consequence of our larger circulation, we ask and receive better prices for our publicity than any other Fayette county daily.

On occasions other dailies have covertly insinuated or openly asserted that their circulations were greater than ours. We have always challenged these claims, not out of a spirit of wantonness, or pride, or desire to injure others, but solely for the purpose of protecting our own business from such insidious assaults.

If we acquiesced in such statements we would convict ourselves of charging exorbitant rates, whereas the publicity we offer is the cheapest in the county, volume and price considered.

The publishers who complain that we are trying to injure their business overlook the fact that they have always been guilty of the first offense. They have tried to injure our business, and we have only acted in self-defense, not in unbridled attack.

If newspapers were all straightforward and businesslike in their management, there would be no room for quarrels, and the business of all would be more profitable to themselves and more satisfactory to their patrons. After all, "Honesty is the best policy."

A MATTER OF DUTY AND NOT OF PROFIT.

In the primary campaign just closing, the Uniontown Herald, official trumpeter of the Organization, has scorned the Truth so persistently and so magnificently as to excite the admiration and the envy of the Annanias Club.

It is not necessary now to summarize its achievements in this line, but by way of personal explanation we may say that certain statements concerning The Courier, made this morning, are certainly without any foundation whatever. The Herald says "the Crow crowd" promised the county patronage to The Standard, The Courier and The People's Tribune and again that "personal organs" were "subsidized by public printing."

The Courier is able to say for itself that it has not been bribed or bought by public printing or promises thereof; and that no promises of this nature have been made to us, either voluntarily or through solicitation. Our position in the primary campaign has been dictated solely by a sense of duty. The course of The Herald, on the other hand, has been dictated by its political ownership.

We have advocated nobody's slate, but have only asked for a Square Deal for every Republican candidate.

"Poles to Go Under Ground," says The News in its biggest and blackest scare-head lines. "When you see it in The News, it's so," but it's sometimes rather startling.

The errors in the primary ballot will not prove serious if the voters vote it right.

Park offers are coming in, but the original proposition is central and can be made beautiful, but the pollution of its waters and the disposition to make it a dumping ground will have to be stopped.

Washington county varies its fox hunting sport by a man-hunt occasionly.

The demand for mine and fire bosses is not so great now, and the examinations will not be any less thorough in consequence.

Snydertown is in the spot-light owing to a threat to make a conflagration.

Baseball is assured to Connellsville for another season. There were a good many strikes and fouls and base hits during the negotiations, but the Connellsville fans have finally made a home run.

The stork is still the swift bird of Connellsville.

Candidates are more plentiful than cash, but this condition is not dangerous to the peace and prosperity of the party. Boodle and bosses are the worst primary enemies any party can have.

There will be plenty of politics after this primary, but the firing line will be shifted.

Cocking mains are becoming popular in the Klondyke. The best that can be said for them is that the belligerent element are better employed in fighting chickens than in fighting each other.

THE POLITICAL "SOUL KISS."

Meyersdale is preparing to pave her streets and Confluence has to kled the grade crossing question. Somerset county's live towns are improving their conditions.

The Local Option Legislative ticket is composed wholly of school teachers. It's natural for a pedagogue to want to be the Big Stick.

BETTER VALUES.

These are the times when we are all looking for better values. Not cheaper goods, but better values. For cheaper goods never mean true economy. It is now that you can really and truly appreciate a dependable store. It is in times like these that a store such as this gets the benefit of special values that we have given in times that are past. We call special attention to these better values we mention below. We want you to come and see them, then you'll appreciate just how good they are.

Black Silk Underskirts at $5.

All silk, double ruffle and dust ruffle. A skirt that was intended to sell for $7. Made of best quality black taffeta, full and wide and not skimped in any way.

St. Gall Batiste at 25c the Yard.

This store never had any wash goods anything near the value of these to retail for 15 cents. Better material and prettier patterns than we ever had for this price. Probably a greater variety of patterns now than we will have later on. That's the principal reason for asking you to see these now.

Neckwear at 25c.

Showing this week some of the prettiest novelties we have had for some time at this price. Ask you to look these over because you'll find a good many of these at this store only.

New Suits at $25.

You want your suit for Easter. Pretty busy in the alteration rooms just now, and, although we have extra help, there is a limit to the work we can do. That's a hint not to put off your buying too long. We have some suits here at $25 that we would like to have you see. Better material, better tailored and better styles than you'd expect to find in a suit at this price. If you have a suit want you owe it to your pocket book to see these suits.

In the Carpet Room.

Carpet buying time now and the carpet department stands ready to serve you. We again call you attention to Stinson carpets. Stinson Tapestry at $1.10 the yard and Stinson Velvet at $1.25 the yard. Made, laid and lined. We have been selling this make of carpet ever since this has been a carpet store, and that's nearly thirty years. For the price our carpet experience tells us it's the best carpet made. Better material, better patterns and better colors. If you've not had much carpet experience, ask your neighbors about Stinson carpets.

Ingrain Carpets.

An ingrain carpet, if it is all wool, should weigh at least 22 ounces to the yard. A light weight wool carpet is not near so good as a part cotton. Will not give you the service. When this store says all wool, it means every thread. Means, too, that the carpet has the weight to insure you that it will give you the service that you expect. Prettier patterns this year than ever before, and the price is 75 cents the yard.

ARTHUR L. LOWE,

A Connellsville Workingman Who Isn t on the Slate, But Who Is a Candidate for Commissioner Just the Same

Among those who entered the Republican primary race for County Commissioner under the impression that it was in every sense Republican and that it was a clear and open field for every individual ambition in which merit and service rather than boss servitude and boss favor would count was Arthur L Lowe of Connellsville

Mr Lowe is an honest and industrious workingman for ten years past a skilled and valued employe of the manufacturing firm of Boyts, Porter & Company He is 29 years of age He was born and reared in Connellsville and educated in its public schools He is a totaller but he is not a Prohibitionist He has always been a faithful worker in the Republican cause He has the endorsement of the Central Trades Councils of both Connellsville and Uniontown

Mr Lowe is not on the Bosses Slate but his fellow workmen will not permit him to withdraw his name from the list of candidates He is in the race to the finish and his friends are confident that with the assistance his merits should receive he will land winner in the contest

Mr Lowe respectfully asks the support of Republicans who dare to call their souls their own and in the event of his election he pledges himself that he will know no faction clique or favorites but that he will endeavor to serve the best interests of the taxpayers earnestly, honestly and loyally—Adv

D. W. PERCY

Gives Voters the Truth of His Candidacy for County Commissioner

In an interview with D W Percy I find he is still on the ticket for Commissioner and says there to a finish He is an employe of Boyts Porter & Company He is in his 58th year started at his trade at 18 years and has followed it for 40 years and has voted the Republican ticket for 36 years and this is the first time for him to ask the Republicans for an office Give D W Percy your vote for he was the first candidate for Commissioner to come out plain against the ring and graft element and also to come out plain and endorse the principles of local option from the start He never was brought out by Mr Kephart as is rumored to defeat his fellow workmen He does not know him Now we want your vote for D W Percy for he has been endorsed by many of the best men in the county and they will not permit him to withdraw Now when you go into the secret booth give him your support which he respectfully asks from all good Lincoln Republicans and not ring grafters and if elected pledges himself to a fair and honest administration of the office Vote for D W Percy REPUBLICAN —Adv

HOW LOCAL OPTION OPERATES.

Comparisons between licensed and unlicensed points in Pennsylvania near home

Butler, Pa—Population 25 000 including rural districts 40 000 Licensed hotels 12 drug stores 15, clubs 3, policemen 6 Arrests for drunkenness for year ending March 31st 1908 817 for March 1908 52

Greensburg Pa—Population 20 000 including rural districts, 35 000 Licensed hotels 12 drug stores 11 clubs 5 policemen 12 Arrests for drunkenness for year ending March 31st, 1908 671, for March 1908, 30

Washington Pa—Population 20 000 including rural districts, 35 000 Not a single licensed hotel drug stores, 27 clubs, chartered 5, not chartered 20 total number of clubs 25 policemen 13 Arrests for drunkenness for year ending March 31st, 1908 1 074, for March 1908, 60 More liquor is shipped and received by express into this town than all other Western Pennsylvania licensed towns combined excluding the large cities

The above statistics were furnished by the police departments of the respective towns

It is needless to argue the fact that the abnormal number of drug stores and clubs in Washington is solely due to its having no licenses It is also of interest to know that the courts particularly outside of the cities require applicants for licenses to have hotels suitable for the accommodation of the traveling public Those acquainted with conditions know that Butler and Greensburg by reason of having license have first class hotels and accommodations which cannot be said of Washington

These facts are given to prove that licenses are promotive of temperance and good order and that no licenses operate to the contrary The Brooks High License Law when properly administered is conceded by all that have unprejudicely considered the question the wisest and best law regulating the sale of liquor that is on the statute books of any State in the Union—Adv

Supposed to Be Visiting Mrs Cochran at Dawson She Goes to Wedding at Pittsburg

A story has just come to light which has an interesting ending for Dawson people Miss Gertrude Bailey daughter of Mr and Mrs W H Bailey of Morgantown and Herbert Lyle Webb of Okmulgee Oklahoma are the hero and heroine

Mr Webb whose home was formerly in Malden Mass but who is now interested in the oil business in Oklahoma was visiting a week in Morgantown where the girl to whom he was engaged Miss Bailey resided It was known that they were engaged and a quiet home wedding had been planned

But Miss Bailey left home suddenly ostensibly to visit at the home of Mrs Harry Cochran at Dawson Instead she went on to Pittsburg and there she was married to Mr Webb When the marriage license appeared in the Pittsburg papers the father called up the Dawson home to learn if his daughter had been there and found she had not Then he telephoned to all the Pittsburg hotels but could not learn the whereabouts of his daughter and her groom It is now believed the bride and groom went on out to Oklahoma where the two met while the girl was visiting there last winter

BASE BALL SEASON

In Both Leagues Will Open Next Tuesday Weather Permitting.

PITTSBURG TO PLAY "BROWNS"

In the Opening Game at St Louis on Tuesday and Smoky City Team Will Travel More Than Any Other Team.

Special to The Courier

NEW YORK, April 11—Weather permitting the base ball season of the two major leagues will open on Tuesday Judging from the attendance at the preliminary and practise games, the interest in the national game is more widespread than ever this year Predictions are freely made that this will be base ball s banner year Some of the minor leagues that were in existence last year have disbanded, but more than enough new organizations have sprung up to take their places In fact the number of professional leagues that will be seen in competition this year is larger than ever before

The 16 clubs that comprise the National and American Leagues are reported in good shape and ready for the umpire to cry Play ball According to the experts who have closely studied the clubs in both the big leagues since they have been in training, the race for the championship in the respective organizations will be closer than it has been for several seasons past

It is expected that the total expense for the two major leagues for the season of 1908 will amount to more than $2,000 000 including ground rent salaries, training expenses and railroad fare for the season A fortune is expended in railroad fares alone In order to fill their scheduled championship dates, for the season the clubs of the American League will have to travel 95 722 miles and the National League teams 92 165 miles, making at the rate of 2 cents per mile and an average of 18 men to each party, the sum of $67 765 32 that will be paid to the railrods for transportation alone Of this amount the American League will contribute $34 477 92 and the National League will contribute $33 287 40

The St. Louis Browns are scheduled to do more travelling this year than any other club in the American League They are down to journey 11,307 miles Twice they are to make the jump from St Louis to Boston a distance of 1 229 miles The longest jumps for the New York and Chicago teams of the American League will be the trip from New York to St Louis which is 1 066 miles the longest trip for the Philadelphias will be from Philadelphia to St Louis 976 miles and the star jaunt of the Washington club will be from the home city to St Louis 892 miles

Of the National League teams the Pittsburg team will find traveling the most expensive They are slated to make 37 trips and will cover a distance of 15 057 miles The Philadelphias on the other hand will travel less than 1,000 miles the difference between the two teams being due to the fact that the Pittsburgs will be obliged to constantly leave home to fill Sunday dates in Chicago and Cincinnati

The Pittsburgs and the Cincinnatis are to make the longest jumps among the National League clubs The Brooklyns will make fewer jumps than any other National League team the schedule calling them to leave home only 23 times, or 14 less than the Pittsburgs The big jump between Boston and St Louis will be taken during the season by three of the National League clubs the Bostons, Chicagos and St Louis

The Philadelphia club in each league will have the smallest amount of mileage to pay the total for the season amounting to $3 495 40 The St Louis club of the American League must put up $5 130 52 for railroad fare and this is the largest amount for any club in that organization The Pittsburgs heading the list in the National League, will pay out $5 420 52 for the season

Before the club treasuries can begin to put figures on the right side of the ledger, something like 350 000 fans must pass through the turnstiles After that as the saying is it is all "velvet" for the owners of the team

Good Things That Are Claimed for Coming Shows in Connellsville

Miss Isabel Irving the charming American comedienne who is to be seen here at the Soisson Theatre on April 17 with her new play Susan in Search of a Husband was for years a member of the famous Augustin Daly company the organization which has done so much for the American stage, and while she obtained the greater part of her stage experience with that company she has had some extremely interesting engagements in her life, chief among which was her position as leading woman at the Lyceum Theatre in New York the place which furnished nearly all the prominent male stars of the present day their first opportunity to achieve fame

The French Maids

The theatregoers often remark that the offerings in burlesque houses are many times superior to those presented at the higher priced theatres where inferior productions under the label of musical comedy try to win merit with the amusement seekers The fact is that the burlesque stage is the real home of the extravagant and frivolous comedy and that it takes more than a mere introduction of a song hit to interest the patrons of these houses Of The French Maids" which comes to the Casino Theatre, Wednesday April 15 it is said that they are far above the usual offering and that this company with its two highly amusing extravaganzas and well selected olio would do honor to the best houses in which the so called musical comedy found a home A glance over the roster of the vaudeville features will give ample proof that money has been spent lavishly to make the attraction a noteworthy one

The cast includes Ida Burt the little girl with the big voice Kelly & Armstrong in animated illustrated songs Clawson Sisters the chic Chansonnettes Humes & Lewis M lle Bogarie in a sensational French episode direct from the Folliers Bergeres Paris France The French Maids' is under the same management as The Black Crook Jr

The Clansman

Manager Robbins has booked The Clansman for an early date at the Soisson Theatre This is the third season of what has been described as 'the most discussed play of the century" The great furore over the play bids fair to be repeated this year Already there are inquiries at the box office and those who were disappointed last year will take good care to secure their seats as soon as the sale is opened

The New Mayor

Based on G.H. Broadhurst's Successful Play

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

BY

ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

COPYRIGHT, 1907 BY GEORGE H. BROADHURST

"No I am unfortunate in having no secret service corps"

"Never mind," returned Phelan, on whom the satire of the reply was quite lost. "You can get the benefit of mine. Now, at this meetin' they did a lot of jabberin' an' they cussed you up hill an' down dale. Says Horrigan, 'If that young cub'"—

"Thanks," interposed Alwyn "but I don't care to hear what was said about me. I"—

"All right, then, but there's something you do want to hear. They got busy at last an' framed up a new wordin' for the Borough bill that'll maybe throw dust in your eyes if you ain't put on to it in advance. They've cut out the subway paragraph an' the express business clause an' they allow transfers at all cross lines. That's the way they'll put the bill up to the aldermen next time. A nice, harmless lookin' document it'll be, an' perhaps the board 'll swaller it if"—

"But do the alterations in the bill also eliminate the 'perpetual franchise' clause?"

"Ah, there's the point! They don't. All the other things you kicked against have been wiped out, but the 'perpetual franchise' clause stands."

"And the $2,000,000 cash offer stands too," added Bennett. "I still fail to see why I should present Mr. Wainwright's company with a franchise for which another man is willing to pay the city $2,000,000, and I shall fight the bill to the very end."

"Good boy, your honor! An' Jimmy Phelan's with you. We'll make Horrigan look like"—

"He needs fourteen votes to carry the bill past my veto. He has his thirteen aldermen under Williams' lead. But only those thirteen voted for the bill in its original state. Unless Horrigan and Williams can find a fourteenth alderman to —

"Unless one of the men who voted against it before can be brought to vote for it next time Horrigan loses," answered Phelan. "He'll make it his business to buy a fourteenth man an' I'll make it my business to find out who he tries to get an' to help your honor keep that same fourteenth man straight. That's how it adds up so far. Well, I'll be joggin'. I'll keep you posted an' between us we'll make Horrigan give a livin' picture imitation of a man without a scalp before we're through with him."

Little of Phelan's exultation was reflected in the new mayor's face as the alderman bustled out. His duty lay clear before him, and that duty he would follow. But he alone realized the cost. He had so counted on the promised talk with Dallas Wainwright the preceding evening. On the hopes of that interview he had staked his all. In it he was to have received the half pledged reward for his months of toil and achievement.

Yet in view of his present relations toward Wainwright he could not of course, visit the financier's home. The doors of the house that contained the woman he loved had been barred to him. And Dallas—what must she have thought of his failure to call?

CHAPTER VIII

"I'VE found out who their fourteenth man is, your honor," whispered Phelan in high excitement. "It's Roberts—Richard P. Roberts of the Third. He's the alderman that Horrigan's trying to put the Indian sign on. We've got to nail him if we can."

"You're sure it's Roberts?" asked Bennett in the same undertone.

The administration ball was in full swing. Mayor and alderman had chanced to meet for a moment in a big, crowded reception foyer just off the ballroom.

"Am I sure it's Roberts?" echoed Phelan. "Am I sure? Might as well ask me am I sure Chesty Dick Horrigan is crooked. I've got the facts down straight. Them secret service chaps of mine"—

"If they get Roberts they will be able to pass the bill"—

"They ain't goin' to get him if Jimmy Phelan's hand don't turn out to be all deuces an' trays. An'"—

"Keep an eye on him and don't let him go away without my knowing it. I must see him tonight and learn positively how he stands in regard to the matter. He has a reputation for being honest. If only"—

"Here's Alwyn, Mrs. Bennett," came Perry Wainwright's voice from the doorway. "In here. Say your honor, your honorable honor's honored mother has been looking everywhere for you. And now that I've reunited the long lost mayor and his anxious mamma I'll chase off and find my partner for the next waltz. I wish it was Cynthia. Ever dance with Cynthia, Alwyn? Poetry of motion and all that. Like a swan or—or a—oh, good evening, alderman. I didn't see you? Are you dancing tonight?"

"Dancin'?" repeated Phelan in high disgust. "Do I look it? It's bad enough to be harnessed into this open faced suit that feels like I was goin' to slip through of it every minute without tryin' to dance too. At a show of this kind I feel like a pair of yellow shoes at a fun'ral. So long, your honor. Even, Mrs. Bennett. There's the music startin', son," he added to Perry as he started for the barroom.

"I heard it," said the lad, "but I'm in no wild hurry."

"Thought you said you had a partner to look up."

"I have—one of Judge Newman's daughters. Ever see her? I thought not or you wouldn't have wondered why I wasn't in a hurry. Better late than"—

"Are you having a good time, mother?" Bennett was asking the little old lady as he found a seat for her.

"Yes," she answered. "Aren't you?"

"Of course I am. Why do you ask?"

The foyer was thinning out as people trooped to the ballroom. For the moment mother and son were alone together.

"You aren't having a good time, Alwyn," she contradicted gently. "You're unhappy about something. Tell me."

"Nonsense!" he denied with a forced laugh. "I"—

"You are thinking of Dallas, my boy. Is anything wrong between you and her? What has happened?"

"Nothing," he answered sullenly. But the mother was not content. Her heart ached for the grief her son was trying to hide.

"Something has happened, Alwyn," she declared, "and I want to know what, so that I can help you. You love her. And that day she came back from Europe I felt sure she loved you. What is holding you two apart?"

"Nothing that can be helped."

"But you never go to see her or"—

"How can I? You know my attitude toward her uncle. How can I call on her while she is in his house? I exposed his relations toward the Borough Street railway franchise bill. I am fighting him and his iniquitous bill with every means in my power! Dallas lives"—

"I hadn't thought of that. You poor boy! But surely"—

"And something more. Her money and Perry's are invested in Borough stocks. By beating that bill I seem outwardly to be willfully wrecking their fortune. I told you the plan I arranged with Perry to avert this, but she doesn't know of that. And"—

"Why don't you tell her then? Or let me tell her?"

"Because it isn't her gratitude I want. I want her to love me."

"But don't you see in the meantime what a weapon you are putting into Mr. Wainwright's hands? Suppose he tells Dallas of your enmity to him and lets her know you are seemingly trying to impoverish her and her brother? He might prejudice her terribly against"—

"I've thought of all that. I must be content to wait. Next Friday the revised Borough bill comes up before the aldermen again for the final fight. When it's settled one way or the other I can go to her and explain. Meantime"—

"Meantime she is here tonight with Mr. Wainwright. Have you seen her?"

"Only for a minute."

"Did she treat you with the same friendliness, the same interest as of old? Don't think I'm inquisitive, dear. I only ask all these questions because I love you."

"I know," he answered, pressing her hand as it lay on his arm, "yet I can hardly answer you, for I hardly know. In her presence I am not at ease because I can't tell her everything, and she seems ill at ease because she knows there's something I don't tell her. Oh, it's a wretched position for us both!"

'Then why don't you clear it up?'

"Then why don't you clear it up?"

"By going to her and saying, 'Dallas, I am exposing your uncle as a blackguard and am destroying your fortune and Perry's. Will you marry me?' These are the facts, but thank God it's only till Friday. After that I can go to her and make it all clear."

"Then why not give me the next one too?" the lad was pleading. "If one twostep's good, two twosteps are twice as good. Please"—

"But see," expostulated Cynthia, showing him her card. "The next is Mr. Gibbs'. I've told you that twice."

"I wish Gibbs all the luck in the world," observed Perry benevolently as he deposited Cynthia on a fauteuil beside her chaperon, Mrs. Bennett. "I wish him so much good luck that if he'd slip and break both his legs I'd pay for a cab to take him home."

"Look out, please!" begged Cynthia. "He's coming."

"The next is ours, I think, Miss Garrison," said Gibbs, entering from the ballroom with Dallas on his arm. "I hope we'll have better fortune than Miss Wainwright and I. My step does not seem to suit hers tonight."

"No, I'm afraid the fault was mine," protested Dallas [illegible] "I think. May I sit here with [illegible] a few minutes, Mrs. Bennett?" she added as Gibbs bore Cynthia away for their dance.

"You don't seem very [illegible] Mr. Gibbs, Perry," [illegible] Mrs. Bennett, noting [illegible] Wainwright's [illegible] of impotent wrath.

"Not [illegible] enough to make me want [illegible] world with him. Mrs. Bennett, you're [illegible] to be just a chaperon [illegible] time this twostep with me. Please!"

CHAPTER IX

THE moment of strained silence that ensued upon Horrigan's entrance was [illegible] rescued Cynthia from Gibbs at the close of their dance [illegible] triumphantly from the ballroom.

"This is my dance," he [illegible] happily to Alwyn's [illegible] we're going to sit it out. If Mrs. Bennett in her capacity of chaperon should ask for Cynthia you can tell her we're going into the glass house to stroll among the romantic vegetables."

And he departed with his prize in the direction of the conservatory. The moment's interruption had sufficed for Wainwright to whisper an admonitory word in Horrigan's ear. Dallas, too, fearing a clash, took Bennett's arm.

"It's so warm here!" she murmured. "Perhaps we can find better air in one of the other rooms. Shall we try?"

"Wainwright," exclaimed Horrigan as the portieres closed behind the mayor and girl, "I don't like that! Is your niece on his side or with us?"

"I don't know," answered Wainwright discontentedly, "and I don't like to force an issue by asking her. It doesn't especially matter, I suppose. In any case I can trust her."

"You're a lucky one," sneered Horrigan. "That makes two people you say you can trust—first your secretary, Thompson, and then— Hello!" he broke off as a swarthy, middle aged man hurried in. "Looking for me, Williams? What's up?"

The newcomer was visibly excited, and at first glance Horrigan had seen that something was amiss.

"What's up?" repeated the boss.

"Ellis has gone—deserted!" cried Williams.

NEW TROLLEY LINE

Between Pittsburg and Washington, Pa., Will Be Complete September 1.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 11.—Trolley service between Pittsburg and this place will be established on September 1. The work of grading for the line, which will connect the Charleroi division of the Pittsburg Railway Company's system with the Canonsburg & Washington Electric Road, is being pushed. The work of laying the rails and ballasting the track will begin about midsummer. The opening of the new line signalizes amazing strides in the value of real estate.

In Scott, Bethel and Upper St. Clair townships, Allegheny county, and in Peters township, in Washington county, farms along the route of the new electric line, which sold two years ago for $125 an acre, are now being held at from $250 to $300 an acre.

WALTER D. CHICK

Of Uniontown Succumbs to Long Attack of Pneumonia Yesterday.

After an illness of about five weeks Walter D. Chick, aged 21, a well and favorably known young man of Uniontown, died last night at 8.15 o'clock of pneumonia at his home on Iowa street.

Deceased was the son of W. E. Chick. About three years ago he graduated from a Philadelphia mercantile school. He worked with his brother-in-law, Harry L. Burd, at the plumbing trade for some time, but up until a few weeks ago he was employed at the general delivery window of the local postoffice. Over a month ago he contracted the disease which caused his death. The chances were good for his recovery at first, but complications set in. Deceased's father, W. E. Chick, three sisters, Mrs. Emma Wagner of Philadelphia; Mrs. Jennie R. Burd of Iowa street, and Mrs. Lizzie Williams, and one brother, Charles P. Chick, former assistant postmaster, survive him.

CAPT. ADAM JACOBS,

Special to The Courier.

BROWNSVILLE, April 10.—Captain Adam Jacobs, 68 years old, one of the most widely known river steamboat captains from Morgantown to the Gulf of Mexico, died at his home at Brownsville yesterday afternoon of pneumonia.

He was the oldest son of the late Captain Adam Jacobs, who built the first steamboat that plied between Morgantown and Mississippi river points. He was born in Brownsville and lived there practically all his life. He was captain of the I. C. Woodward, one of the largest boats on the local rivers. Captain Jacobs was a member of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church of Brownsville. His second wife was Miss Belle Stoner, who survives, with six children: Mrs. F. A. Carson, A. M. R. Jacobs, Brownsville; Mrs. Vance McCarty and Miss Helen R. Jacobs, Pittsburg, and Miss Catherine G. Jacobs, Brownsville.

Several days ago Captain Jacobs arose in his delirium while his nurse was out of the room, and, going to an open window, fell out. He did not show any signs for the worse on account of his tumble then.

FAYETTE WOMAN.

Says Her Husband Sold 150 of Her Chickens to Buy Drink in One Summer.

Attorney Charles E. Phillips, Commissioner, yesterday filed his report at Washington, Pa., in the divorce proceedings of Lucy A. Young against her husband, William W. Young. The testimony of the libellant contains some startling disclosures. She declares that her husband was so addicted to the use of liquor that he drank up everything he could make, sold her chickens to buy booze while she was sick in bed, and at times insisting on his wife becoming a common prostitute for the income she might derive.

The woman says that her husband sold 150 of her chickens in one summer to buy drink. The libellant's testimony is one continued story of brutal abuse, most brutal at times when she should have received the tenderest care. They were married in 1901 in Fayette county, but later removed to Finleyville, Washington county.

IF WHAT YOU EAT THIS EVENING LIES LIKE LEAD IN THE STOMACH

Get a Case of Diapepsin and You'll Not Suffer From Indigestion or Stomach Misery Five Minutes Later.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heart-burn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and Stomach headache, this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin contains enough 22-grain Triangules to usually relieve the worst case of Dyspepsia, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from Stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble or all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve a sour stomach or Indigestion in five minutes. Get a case now and eat one Triangule after your next meal. They are harmless and taste like candy, though each contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood 3,000 grains of food, besides it makes you go to the table with a hearty, healthy appetite; but, what will please you most is that you will feel that your Stomach and Intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Billiousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach prescription, too, if you ever have Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery, and eat just one Triangule.

A WEEK FROM TOMORROW IS EASTER SUNDAY.

A Day That is Dominated by Fashion, a Day When Every Man, Woman and Child is Most Critical in Matters of Dress.

It is on an occasion such as this that the Wright-Metzler Co.'s superb and carefully selected stocks are most attractive. It is a day when correctness in apparel is its most important feature.

Wright-Metzler stocks are assuredly correct. This has never been disputed. Our buyers, every one, go to the Eastern markets and make a study of style. They are absolutely certain as to the correctness of every thing they purchase. No other retailing concern in this section go to the expense. It is the absolute certainty of correctness, coupled with low prices due to our superior buying and selling facilities that are responsible for our immense business.

Easter Sunday only a week away. This means that our selling force and delivery will be taxed to their utmost. We earnestly advise that you shop as early in the week as possible as an immense amount of business will be crowded into the last few days. Alterations in apparel take time, we're very strict in this matter. Our alteration departments, both in men's and women's apparel are most efficient and capable and we can confidently assure the delivery of your Easter apparel in time.

We wish to direct attention to one veryimportant fact. Our purchases for the present season have been more prodigal than ever: assortments were never as complete as now. This statement may seem a trifle enlarged in the face of the howlings of the "hard times specialist." It is absolutely true. We reasoned this way: "People must have clothes, to make a satisfactory selection stocks must be comprehensive, others are retrenching, we'll buy heavier than ever" and our buyers were instructed to buy unrestrictedly. They did so with the result that the Wright-Metzler stocks present a variety and volume never reached in the past a collection of apparel, men's, women's and children's; millinery and acessory apparel that is not equaled in Western Pennsylvania, outside of Pittsburg.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am to-day a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.
